

Fundraiser for the Music Fund for Cuba

in memory of Heidi Johnson.

Thursday 18 June

At the Lloyds Hotel, Wilbraham Rd, Chorlton, Manchester

with from 9p.m The Bourbon Street Preachers

playing their mix of Blues, Cajun and Zydeco - it will include their hit Cuba5.

Cuban music disco before the band's set and in the interval

Food menu (last orders 8.00pm).

Free admission - raffle - stall - collection

Provincial school of Arts, Matanzas

“Culture is an indispensable component of identity and quality of life, because it makes people grow”

Abel Prieto, Cuban Minister for Culture

Cuba is renowned both for the vibrant wealth of its cultural traditions and for its support for budding artists. Its music, art, and dance are enjoyed by people around the world. But these traditions and the development of future talent are threatened by a lack of basic tools and materials.

Violin strings, paper for music scores, ballet shoes, paints and many other small but essential items are all in short supply due to the continuing economic blockade of the island by the United States. The Music Fund for Cuba aims to advance the education of the public, in particular children and young people, by supplying musical equipment and materials to students, music schools and performing artists in Cuba.

All money will go to the music fund for Cuba - Charity no 1096283

email: csc.mcr@poptel.org

web: www.cubasol-manch.org.uk

Fundraiser for the Music Fund for Cuba

in memory of Heidi Johnson.

Thursday 18 June

At the Lloyds Hotel, Wilbraham Rd, Chorlton, Manchester

with from 9p.m The Bourbon Street Preachers

playing their mix of Blues, Cajun and Zydeco - it will include their hit Cuba5.

Cuban music disco before the band's set and in the interval

Food menu (last orders 8.00pm).

Free admission - raffle - stall - collection

Provincial school of Arts, Matanzas

“Culture is an indispensable component of identity and quality of life, because it makes people grow”

Abel Prieto, Cuban Minister for Culture

Cuba is renowned both for the vibrant wealth of its cultural traditions and for its support for budding artists. Its music, art, and dance are enjoyed by people around the world. But these traditions and the development of future talent are threatened by a lack of basic tools and materials.

Violin strings, paper for music scores, ballet shoes, paints and many other small but essential items are all in short supply due to the continuing economic blockade of the island by the United States. The Music Fund for Cuba aims to advance the education of the public, in particular children and young people, by supplying musical equipment and materials to students, music schools and performing artists in Cuba.

All money will go to the music fund for Cuba - Charity no 1096283

email: csc.mcr@poptel.org

web: www.cubasol-manch.org.uk

